

Miss Avideah Nejad MD FRCOG FRCPI LLM MBA MA

Dr Avideah Nejad is a specialist in Obstetrics, Gynaecology and subspecialised in Maternal and Fetal medicine.

She completed her postgraduate training in Obstetrics Gynaecology Maternal and Fetal Medicine at London Deanery UK. She acquired her fellowship and MSc degree in Medical Ultrasound and Fetal Medicine from King`s College University Hospital in London. She is senior fellow of Royal College of Obstetrics and Gynaecology UK, Fellow of Royal College of Physicians Ireland, Member of American college of Obstetrics and Gynaecology society of maternal fetal medicine and Iranian Board certified in Obstetrics and Gynaecology. Her main area of clinical interest is Pre-eclampsia and detection of fetal abnormalities in first trimester.

She is a senior consultant in maternal and fetal medicine as well as the Medical director of governance, patient safety and risk management in national health system in UK. She sits on the MRCOG examination committee and is a Strat OG Board member. She is a senior peer reviewer consultant in UK national health inspection authority. She is the Clinical Lead in sustainability, Transformation, Partnership Scheme in UK south central region. She has wide experience in partnership with RCOG in developing maternity guidelines, patient pathways and strategy development in reducing C/S nationally and internationally.

Dr Avideah is a professor of clinical Obstetrics and Gynaecology, maternal and fetal medicine with extensive experience in undergraduate and postgraduate teaching and training in medical schools across the UK and USA. She is a certified and registered coach in UK. She has completed her senior leadership and management training program in Harvard business school USA as well as achieving MBA in international Health management.

She has followed her ambitions in medical law, family law and ethics; she has graduated from De Montfort University in the UK with the LLM degree in Medical Law and Ethics.

She has a fervent interest in Islamic studies, sharia law as well as Quran Exegesis, inspiring her to undertake the MA studies in Middlesex University London.